Chinese Envoy Wil Leave Japan With Staff On Thursday, Is Belief

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Jan. 18.—Japan formally severed relations with the Chiang Kai-Shek regime today by recalling Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese ambassador to China.

It was believed the Chinese Envoy Hsu Shih-Ying, would leave Japan with his staff and a number of Chinese nationals, on Thursday.

Recall of Kawagoe, carried out through official channels, put the finishing touches to Japan's renunciation of Generalissimo Chiang's regime, which is now regarded here as an "outlaw" organization representing neither the Chinese state nor people.

May Reorganize Peking Government

This action was taken as a report appeared in the influential newspaper Yomiuri that Nippon's cabinet, at a special meeting today, had decided definitely to recognize the provisional government recently established at Peking as soon as it becomes "strong and stable in form and substance."

When that time is reached, according to the Yomiuri report, Tokyo will consider the Peking government the ruling regime of China with effective authority of all areas under domination of Nipponese troops.

The Japanese press also renewed charges that China is still obtaining outside aid in resisting the Nipponese military campaign.

Bitter Cold As Fighting Rages In Chinese War

Chinese And Japanese Forces Launch Offensives On Widely Separated Fronts

REPORT BATTLE NEAR HANGCHOW

Serious Resistance Is Being Met By Japanese In Attempted Advance

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 18.—Bitter fighting raged north, south and west of Shanghai today as Chinese and Japanese forces launched major offensives on widely separated fronts.

The battles were waged under heart-breaking conditions as bitter cold swept virtually the entire country, most of which was blanketed by deep snow.

Pushing north from Nanking, China's fallen capital, Japanese troops launched a major drive up the Pukow-Tientsin railroad.

Chinese reports from Hankow admitted the situation of Chinese defenders along the railroad was critical and that the invaders were making headway.

Battle Near Hangchow

In the southern front a heavy battle was being fought near the port of Hangchow, which Japanese troops captured several weeks ago after bitter fighting. The Chinese in that region, however, are bitterly contesting every foot of ground they yield.

To the west, up the Yangtze river from Nanking, other Chinese legions unleashed a direct attack against Japanese-held Wuhu. This assault was levelled despite a shattering barrage from two Japanese warships stationed off Wuhu in the river, which attempted to relieve the pressure against the Nipponse forces in that area.

German Liner Europa Races To Spot Where Freighter Is Reported Disabled

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—A tense drama was being enacted on the high seas today as the German liner Europa sped to the rescue of the 5,000-ton British freighter S. S. Cragpool, disabled and slowly filling about 830 miles east of Cape Race, N. F.

While the ship's radio flashed "not in immediate sinking condition," after sending its first distress call, its serious predicament was epitomized in this graphic message picked up here by Mackay Radio:

"Circulating pump door carried away, admitting water into engine room but keeping it in check at present. Will advise progress."

BULLETIN
(International News Service)

ST. HYACINTHE, Quebec, Jan. 18.—Fire that crackled undiscovered for at least an hour before bursting into full destructive fury today destroyed the College of the Sacred Heart for Boys here with an estimated death toll of between 20 and 25 youthful students.

Most of the victims were trapped probably before awakening when the flames roared through dormitories of the old weather-beaten structure. These died without a chance to escape.

Ten bodies were reported to have been recovered. They were so badly charred that identification seemed hopeless.

Local police estimated that the death toll might rise to 25.

Thirty In Hospitals.

Thirty youngsters, many clutching rosary beads and crucifixes in pitifully burned fingers, were rushed to hospitals.

Ten of the injured were so badly hurt that physicians held little hope for their recovery.

At 10 o'clock this morning firemen from Montreal and communities adjacent to this village were still wetting down the ruins of the ancient structure so that search for the bodies of additional victims could get under way.

Most of those who escaped death were painfully injured in leaping from upper floors of the four-story frame and brick structure which nestled in the snow-clad Laurentian mountains.

Huge Crowd At State Farm Show

Estimate 60,000 Attended Exhibition At Capital On First Day

JUDGES TACKLE JOB OF AWARDS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18.—Off to an auspicious opening highlighted by the personal attendance of Gov. George H. Earle and ground-breaking ceremonies for a new $1,200,000 building, the 22nd Annual State Farm Show was in full swing today.

More than 60,000 persons visited the huge ten and a half acre arena yesterday, inspecting the 11,000 exhibits produced in the agricultural areas of the state. Innumerable prizes were awarded shortly after the doors opened and continued throughout the day as the judges tackled the huge task of distributing more than 7,000 awards before Friday night.

Gov. George H. Earle and Edward A. O'Neil, president of the National Farm Bureau Federation, spoke at the formal opening exercises last night, both striking the theme that farmers and industrial workers were independent for their common well being.

Seek To End Strike In Produce Yards

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 18.—As city consumers were guaranteed delivery of fresh fruits and vegetables, temporarily stopped by a strike of 500 men in the Pittsburgh produce yards, a federal arbiter was scheduled to meet today with both sides in an attempt to settle the dispute.

Fears of a shortage of produce and fresh fruits were lessened here when chain store companies took over the hauling for the local retail trade, picking up the commodities from railroad sidings and warehouses outside the yard limits and uncontrolled by the produce workers union, which called the strike.

Independent and wholesale dealers were hard hit, however, by the strike and many were said to be making arrangements to ship produce from Buffalo and Cleveland.

Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek Chiefly Responsible For China's Resistance Against Japan, Says Knickerbocker

(Editor's Note: Japan will never let up in her "punishment" of China until it has eliminated Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek, the person chiefly responsible for China's prolonged resistance, H. R. Knickerbocker, noted foreign correspondent of International News Service, discloses in the following article.

In this dramatic picture of wartorn Shanghai, the second of a series "The Yellow Typhoon and Red Storm Warnings," Knickerbocker reveals the American-educated wife of China's generalissimo as the woman who controls the destiny of the world. Knickerbocker has just returned to Paris after months in China and a 12,500 mile trip across Asia and Europe.)

PARIS, Jan. 18.—China is defeated, but the war will not be over until the Japanese knock out the woman who will not let the Chinese government capitulate.

She is really the government although nominally only the wife of its generalissimo.

The most powerful woman the modern world has known since Queen Victoria, this uncrowned empress of 450,000,000 Chinese is playing a desperate game on which depends the destiny of the world.

May-Ling Soong, Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek, proposes to cajole, inspire and compel her vast country to continue to resist Japan even long after it has become utterly futile to hope China could win or even get terms by herself.

Hope For Two Things

The reason why the Madame, as she is known throughout Asia, is so determined upon this policy affect us very nearly. Because she believes that if she can encourage her husband to hold out long enough one of two things are bound to happen:

First, America, Britain or Russia —any one, two or all three—will be drawn into the conflict against Japan.

Second, Japan will collapse economically and undergo a revolution.

Predominant in Madame's thinking, as expressed to me at Nanking shortly before the Japanese captured her capital, is her conviction that Japan is going to use China as a stepping-stone to further conquest and that therefore the western powers are extremely foolish not to intervene now while Japan is still engaged in fighting China instead of later when Japan's hands will be free to assault with full force her western enemies.

As Madame outlined her thoughts to me, China now holds the key to the destiny of the world.

Suppose the Chinese government agreed now to surrender to Japan. Then in the fullest meaning of the phrase, the whole world would enter a new epoch, not in terms of years or centuries but of a thousand years.

Turn In World History

Because the ultimate and complete conquest of China by Japan would mean a turn in world history comparable to such events as the conquest of Europe by Rome 2,000 years ago or the occupation of America by white westerners 300 years ago.

This is the first time the West has been imperilled by the East since 800 years ago when Jenghis Khan's incomparable army swept across Asia and clear into Poland and Hungary.

A generation ago Kaiser Wilhelm popularized the 'Yellow Peril' but only today has Japan given it real meaning.

Japan intends not merely to subjugate China but to make 450,000,-

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Continuing his business conferences on the economic state of the nation, President Roosevelt scheduled two important meetings for this week, one with six New England governors, the other with the automotive industry's big four—General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and Packard.

Along with the presidents of the automobile manufacturing firms, the president called in heads of the four finance companies, seeking to check up on just what the production and consumption situation is in this important field.

With the New England governors, the executive will go over the entire industrial, employment and relief situation in this heavily populated sector of the country. He has already held a similar conference with governors from southeastern states.

Anthracite Coal Situation

While these developments portrayed the visible recovery program of Mr. Roosevelt for the week, behind the scenes his justice department aides delved into new charges of monopoly and bad business practices in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania. Declaring that railroad and New York banking interests were wrecking the hard coal business, Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania spent two hours with the president, Attorney General Homer S. WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The administration stands ready to buy "useful physical properties" which it needs from private utility interests, but doesn't want any "holding companies or watered stock," and doesn't believe the government power program threatens disaster to private investors.

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—Exploring the lurid trail of Peter Anders, which started with a kidnaping and two murders in Illinois and then zig zagged crazily across the country between bank holdups and race tracks, Federal Bureau of Investigation men today sought a pretty raven-haired woman.

The dark-eyed beauty, they said, was one of the reasons—the other was race horses—why Anders kidnaped Charles S. Ross, wealthy retired Chicago greeting card manufacturer; collected $50,000 ransom from Mrs. Ross, and then killed his helpless victim and his confederate, a man known as James Atwood Gray.

Anders was enroute to Chicago today by plane after confessing to one of the country's most amazing crimes, the kidnaping and murder of Charles S. Ross, wealthy greeting card manufacturer of Chicago, and

News Husband Slain By Kidnapers Causes Serious Breakdown

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Mrs. May Ross, who never completely gave up hope that her husband would be returned alive, today was in a state of collapse over the news that Charles S. Ross had been slain by his kidnapers.

Agents from the Federal Bureau of Investigation brought her the tragic word of his killing last night. Told over the speaking tube the identities of the callers, Mrs. Ross was waiting for them at the door of the large apartment she occupies in an exclusive residential section.

Before she could voice the question on her lips one of the agents said:

"We have in custody the man who kidnaped your husband."

Mrs. Ross hesitated, then asked: "Is he—my husband—is he alive?"

The G-men were silent. She reeled against the door and the agents sprang to help her.

With the last ray of hope gone, Mrs. Ross was helped to her bed and put under the care of a physician.

LONG GRILLING BRINGS ADMISSION

BULLETIN

(International News Service)

MINEOLA, N. Y., Jan. 18.—John Reoviton, alias Reo, 40-year-old former gasoline station owner of Lyndhurst, N. J., today confessed to the "Red Riding Hood" murder of Miss Jeanette Schullain, 19, and Mrs. Celinda Waite, 59-year-old widow, in the Waite home at Elmont, L. I., last Wednesday, authorities announced.

The alleged confession was made after Reo, said to be a distant connection of the family, had been questioned almost continuously since Sunday evening. District Attorney Edward J. Neary of Nassau county announced Reo was booked immediately on a charge of first degree murder.

Robbery Motive.

Neary announced that although Reo confessed robbery was the motive, the slayings netted him nothing but an inexpensive wrist watch belonging to the widow's 22-year-old son, George. The original police theory that robbery was the motive had been abandoned after various sums of money, totaling nearly $100, were found about the house.

The slayer, Neary explained, probably was frightened away by the return of George Waite to the house. It was George who, after sitting around the house for two hours, finally discovered the bodies. Shot through the head, the women were bound hand and foot by Mrs. Waite's silk stockings.

Like little Red Riding Hood in the fairy tale, the Schullain girl had brought some home-made bread to the elderly neighbor. She made her ill-fated entry into the house, police believe, immediately after Mrs. Waite had been slain.

Reo, a short, thin man, extremely high strung, was picked up Sunday in a New York rooming house, where he had been living since Jan. 5 last. Police previously had sent out an 8-state teletype alarm for him.

Final Farewell

As the pair shook hands in a farewell meeting, the father's only word was:

"Good-bye son, it's tough, but I'll see you again."

And the son's only response as he clasped his father's hand was:

"Good-bye."

Young Anthony apparently bore no resentment against his father for refusal to try to spare his life.

Anthony was the first to go. Two shocks were given. The father received three shocks.

The switch was thrown by Robert Elliott, who officiated at the deaths of Ruth Snyder, Judd Gray and Bruno Hauptmann.

Both could be seen to be burning cheerfully, as the stove-doors were open. The manager was very pleased with his stoves, and said one of them was 31 years old, put in right after the completion of the building, and the other 30 years. Cooperation Plan

Along with these developments came good news for the administration, in the shape of an offer of cooperation in working out plans for ending the current recession, from the National Manufacturers Association. A telegram from William B. Warner, president, advised Mr. Roosevelt that the association was setting up a committee on national policy coordination, and that it would work with any person or agency he designated to bring recovery.

The governors—from New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and representatives from the Maine governor—will meet the president at the White House tomorrow. The automobile chiefs were called in for a conference beginning at Friday noon.

Later, the series of business meetings will be climaxed with a gathering of members of the commerce department's business advisory council, at which more than fifty business leaders of the nation will be present for round table talks with the president. After this, it was presumed that Mr. Roosevelt may send to congress a special message dealing specifically with business conditions and possible remedies.

HOOVER REPORTS CONFESSION IN CHICAGO CRIME

the subsequent slaying of his confederate, a shadowy man known as James Atwood Gray.

Anders, 30 years of age, followed the roar of the crowds and the drive down the stretch to Miami, New Orleans and finally to Santa Anita, the fabulous racing strip on the outskirts of Los Angeles, and right into the arms of the law.

Arrested Last Friday

Anders was arrested at Santa Anita last Friday, it was revealed here last night by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men, and pressed for an explanation of where he obtained the ransom bills that kept appearing at the pari-mutuel windows. A diligent bit of questioning finally brought the confession and Anders was placed aboard a plane, with six or seven government agents, and started for Chicago to face the consequences of the crime.

Hoover said $14,402.28 of the $50,000 ransom paid by the widow of Ross, although she did not suspect at the time that she had been widowed by the cold-blooded abductor and slayer, had been recovered. Some of it was stuffed in Anders' pockets, the rest was found in the fine car in which he had gone for a tour of the country and the famous tracks.

Astounding Career

The kidnaping and killings, according to Hoover, were only the climax to an astounding career that previously had embraced at least twenty bank holdups in various parts of the country. The exact locations of the looted banks were not disclosed by the chief of the G-men.

Here is the story of Anders, as pieced together from reports of Hoover and other government agents:

Bank robberies palled on him; he wanted some "big dough" so he could retire from the hard work of breaking open vaults, and devote himself to his real love, the kick of the horses turning for home.

So, he picked up Gray some place and plotted the abduction of Ross, 72-year-old retired manufacturer. The kidnaping was carried out last September 25 as Ross and his secretary, Miss Florence Freihage, 44, were returning to Chicago by motor from dinner at nearby Sycamore.

Killed Ross And Gray

Two days later Anders killed Ross and Gray; shot both of them to death, but just where he killed them and where he disposed of the bodies is still a mystery.

"All we can say at this time," said Hoover, "is that the murders took place in Illinois, but the bodies are not in that state. That's why the government took jurisdiction in the case."

Anders, also known as Albert March, Marshal Eaton and Ray Crantz, then collected the $50,000 ransom from Mrs. Ross on October 8 and started his tour of the primrose path.

At first he just traveled and thought about the horses. He visited Spokane, where he one time worked as a logger, Seattle, Portland, Ore., Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

Ransom Bill Spotted

But he was hungry for a sight of the running horses and went to Miami. That is where the first of the ransom bills is believed to have been spotted. He next moved to New Orleans, left more "hot" bills at the track, and then made the long trek west to the golden state and the golden track, Santa Anita.

The G-men were on his trail by this time and the banks at Los Angeles, handling the "take" at Santa Anita, were on the lookout. More ransom bills appeared and G-men were staked out at the mutuel windows at the track. They soon narrowed the windows down and last Friday one of them picked the exact aperature into which Anders shoved $40. The G-man went around to the front of the window and quickly collared Anders without so much as disturbing the rest of the betting line. The confession followed.

Given Cooperation

Hoover praised banks and the track.

"We cannot lend enough credit," he said, "to the cooperation we received from the Federal Reserve Bank in Los Angeles and the officials of Santa Anita track."

When Anders was picked up Friday, Hoover was notified in New York and immediately took a plane for Los Angeles, arriving Saturday and taking charge of the probe, which quickly resulted in confession.

Hoover would not discuss the disposition of the bodies of Anders' victims beyond saying they had not yet been recovered.

Anders was described by G-men as being 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighing about 135 pounds, light complexion but "strongly built for his weight."

Hoover was still here today, "clearing up several routine matters." He was expected to go east tomorrow or the next day.

SEEK TO END STRIKE IN PRODUCE YARDS

The strike has already cost both sides thousands of dollars.

John A. Moffett, a federal department of labor mediator, arrived here yesterday from Washington and immediately went into conference with strike leaders, following which he announced a meeting with both sides.

The walkout was called Sunday when the union claimed violation of its contract by the dealers. The dealers, on the other hand, denounced the strike as a contract violation on the part of the union and termed it an outlaw strike.

Trucks attempting to enter the yards were picketed by union men. There has been no disorder.

THE REAL AMERICA

WHILE figures resulting from the recent unemployment censuses are not yet completely available, it is interesting to note that preliminary estimates reveal that more than 80 per cent of the approximately 8,000,000 registered as unemployed are residents of cities in excess of 5,000 population.

Small-town America, where about one-third of the nation's population lives in hamlets, villages, and small towns of from 500 to 2,500 persons, is and always has been the last section of the nation to feel a lack of jobs asserts the Williamsport Grit. Even the rural areas, because of idle farm labor, show a higher percentage of unemployment than the small towns.

Approximately 18 per cent of employable men and women in the United States were without jobs as of last December 1. But the percentage of idle in small-town America does not run nearly so high, in fact it probably does not exceed eight per cent.

The small towns, the villages, the hamlets of this country are fortunate in more ways than one. Life may not have its high spots in those places, but neither does it have so many low ones. Men and women follow the even tenor of their ways, and a far greater degree of peace and contentment is the result.

SUPREME COURT APPOINTMENT

President Roosevelt's selection of Stanley F. Reed to succeed Associate Justice Sutherland on the Supreme Court bench is, so far as can be judged now, sound and commendable.

Mr. Reed is a lawyer of long and thorough training. If he lacks judicial experience he is not the first man to go to the Supreme Court without a prior career as a judge. As Solicitor General of the United States he has had firm grounding not only in the law, but in court procedure. He is no stranger in the Supreme Court chamber, where he has appeared frequently as government advocate in support of New Deal legislation.

If there is a question as to his ability to maintain a judicial viewpoint on issues on which he has repeatedly appeared before the court as the government's counsel, the same query might be raised with regard to any prominent attorney representing large interests before the Supreme Court. Mr. Reed's record shows him to be a liberal, and not an extremist. There is nothing to indicate that the good lawyer would not be a good Supreme Court Justice.

As a contrast to the president's choice of Hugo L. Black to take the chair vacated by Justice Van Devanter, the appointment of Mr. Reed is distinctly encouraging. Nevertheless, the senate should remember the Black fiasco and, even though reasonably sure to confirm the nomination, should at least go through the process of giving careful consideration to Mr. Reed's qualifications.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

FRANKLIN'S PRECEPTS STILL STAND

The long-range future planning by Benjamin Franklin, whose 231st birthday anniversary was marked Monday, set an example which seems in these times to be honored more in the breach than in the observance. The pioneer Philadelphian was a noted practitioner of economy, and it is appropriate that banks and other institutions zealous for financial security designate his birthday anniversary period as National Thrift Week. For thrift does not mean miserly saving, or doing without necessities, but careful allotment of income with due regard for the principal, for the future, for paying the piper.

Franklin's attainments in so many fields discount any aspersion that he was overly careful about spending. He was not niggardly; he obviously thought of other things than gold. Yet it is well for a nation and a nation's people and a nation's government to turn, to his simple tenets which not only justified themselves in his own achievements, but have been similarly confirmed whenever practiced.

Two hundred years before the American government attempted to prove that this country could borrow-and-spend its way to prosperity Franklin was thinking ahead, for himself and his fellows. His will left one thousand pounds to Boston and another thousand to Philadelphia. The Franklin Institute was awarded $133,000 of the accumulated fund in 1908; the $42,000 remainder will continue growing until 1990, when it will be divided between the city and state.

Thrift did this; practically all material reminders of Franklin in Philadelphia are thrift preachments. It is an old-fashioned virtue, but still sterling.

HEROISM TO GET THE NEWS

Do you ever reflect as you sit down of an evening to look over the war news from China or Spain that the men who prepared the dispatches which you read may have risked their lives in obtaining the news. Indeed, more than one reporter has lost his life in the quest of news on the two war fronts. The latest of these is Edward J. Neil, Associated Press correspondent with the insurgent forces in Spain. Wounded by a shell fragment on the Teruel front, he died a short time later in a Red Cross hospital.

Everyone knows how the actor or actress lives by the code that "the show must go on" no matter what happens. But not everyone knows that no actor or actress was ever more loyal to this same ideal than is the newspaper reporter. His religion is "get the story" and in order to get it he thinks nothing of taking his life into the hands. Grueling work, long hours and nearness of physical danger are all in the day's work for him. His task may be to write the report of a prayer meeting or it may be to dodge bullets in a riot. No good reporter will fail, no matter what may happen to him. One who would hesitate is not worthy of the journalistic profession.

Such a man was Edward Neil. He was one of four traveling in an automobile when a shell struck. Two were killed instantly and another suffered only minor wounds.

Neil was married and the father of a five-year-old namesake. It was New Year's eve, and thoughts of the little family back home must have been flitting through his mind when that shell burst.

The News is proud to honor the bravery and loyalty of one who died while exhibiting the finest and best qualities known to the newspaper craft.

The country has improved in one way. Fewer people now feel interior enough to jeer at those who take a bath every day.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CLASS FOR PARENTS

One Sunday last summer I spoke as a mere psychologist, at a morning church service in North Manchester, Ind., on the subject, "Living Together in the Family." At that time the pastor of this congregation H. L. Hartsough, who speaks before a filled church every Sunday morning, told me he had in mind to conduct a series of lessons for parents, and asked me to send him a list of books—he already had a fine collection of them in his library.

On receiving my list several weeks later he wrote me:

"Thanks for your helpful sugges-tions. We are having a class of 26 young married people which meets each Thursday evening in our home. We are having great times together.

He enclosed the program for 10 weeks beginning Oct. 7.

Parent Relations Study Class Subjects:

The beatitudes of a happy relation between husband and wife.

The place of religion in building a modern home.

Our modern social problems—drinking, smoking, etc.

Keeping our faith in a world of science.

The problem of sex.

Robbing children of responsibility. Developing will power.

Parents making themselves their children's slaves.

Kindling fear in our children. Anger.

How parents teach their children to be liars and thieves.

The place of punishment. Scolding.

Busy as this pastor is, he attaches enough importance to this matter to give an evening a week to it in addition to the hours of preparation. How I wish we could induce most other pastors to emulate Rev. H. L. Hartsough of North Manchester, Ind.

Young Mother Of Eight

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am not the mother who wrote that letter of October 14, appearing in your column, but I am in similar circumstances and she has my heartfelt sympathy. I am also in my early thirties and have eight children, the eldest a boy of 14 years. They range on down to three years old, including one set of twins of four and one-half years.

"My husband's wages run in the thirties per week, sometimes a little higher and a little lower, but never out of the thirties. And owing to a year's sickness we had last year and the death of a child, we never have caught up. I know Mrs.—has quite a time, figuring and cutting and trying to make ends meet. Seven of my children are supposed to be in school but I have only 5 there as I can't keep them prepared as they should be. But we are a lot of company to each other, and our house never lacks noise.

"I do hope Mrs.—will find a way out or some hopes of a better future.

"P. S.—I am the mother of two dead and eight living."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE BORNIN OF 'EM.

"My name is Viola Mae. I was born in Lithuania. I'm nearly five years old. I'm an actress and I want to go into the Movies."

Thus spoke a curly topped miss as she strode into the office of Maurice Kosloff, studio dance director.

"You and 10,000 other children in Hollywood," answered the dance maestro.

"Oh, but I can really act," rejoined the child.

Without waiting for an invitation, the young lady then delivered herself of a scene from "Strange Interlude," followed quickly by an impersonation of Jane Crowl in "The First Lady."

Out of breath, she paused and said:

"Well, can I act?"

Kosloff's answer was to lift the telephone receiver and call Hunt Stromberg, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer executive.

"Mr. Stromberg," Kosloff said, "relative to your recent inquiry for a child actress. I think I have the young lady for whom you are looking."

You'll see Viola Mae in "Modern Lady," new M-G-M production, scheduled for January.

Thus are stars born in Hollywood.

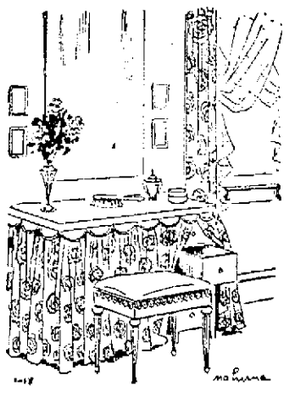
Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office



By Francine Markel

Dear Miss Markel: I have a small, flat-topped desk with drawers down each side. It is a very good, old piece of furniture. A friend suggested that I convert this into a draped dressing table. Do you think it can be done? If so, how.

A. G.

Answer: If you are clever with the needle you can easily convert the desk into a dressing table.

There are many varieties of materials used for this purpose—cretonne, chintz, silks, taffeta. You may effectively use the same material for your window draperies that you use in the skirt for the dresser. Or if you prefer you may have a thinner material, such as net, for your dresser curtain. If you do, be sure to have a foundation of sateen under the voluminous skirt of net.

This skirt, reaching to the floor, may be very elaborate and ruffled or plain, as you desire. It should be attached to a band tacked around the edge of the dresser, as shown in the sketch.

Divide the skirt in the center if you make it in two sections or divide it at the right and the left of the center if you make it in three sections so that the side drawers may be hidden but easily reached.

Budget Arguments Appear. Socio-Economic Changes. Economists Give Views.

By LESLIE EICHEL,
Central Press Columnist

ARGUMENTS OVER balanced and unbalanced budgets are beginning again. Certain small countries are balancing their budgets. But the large industrial countries are not—except England (and England is resorting to huge expenditures that may bring about an eventual collapse).

The fact of the matter is — according to political economists — the question is far deeper: We can balance our budget by making vast socio-economic changes which will be resisted; or we can unbalance our budget in the hope of saving the present system by "priming the pump" again and again and "letting business alone".

But suppose we balance the budget without making the socio-economic changes? How long till the 11 million hungry would take things into their own hands?

And suppose the government primes the pump again and again? How long till run-away inflation and money would become valueless?

And if "'business were let alone", would there not be such reckless competition (one of the great dangers of the modern capitalistic system) and likewise would there not be such a concentration of capital into such few hands that the wheels of industry would stop altogether finally?

The greatest business in the United States is farming. The government not only "lets that alone", but gives it great subsidies (as the tariff is a subsidy to industry), yet farm prices have made wide declines, and farm sales have dropped.

And the reason is not difficult to find: Domestic and world purchasing power, through a variety of human-imposed obstacles, is down to a low level. The aim must be to find the medium of raising mass purchasing power.

ECONOMIC ILLS

A newspaper publisher and editorial writer well known throughout the middle west, David Gibson, visited the writer of this column the other day. Gibson for 35 years has been a consistent advocate of the Single Tax. He has written many articles on it. Recently, a taxation trust in Detroit published a pamphlet of his on unemployment—and a remedy.

"We have improved in everything in the last century except political economy," Mr. Gibson said. "We are just as ignorant today of economic laws as we were 100 years ago.

"And why? Too many people are enjoying the fruits of the present evils. But that will lead to collapse.

"It reminds me of the age when cholera swept the world. Tens of thousands perished from cholera and other diseases. But superstition ruled. People rang church bells instead of cleaning the streets. Men who saw the means of stopping the epidemics were even put to death. Eventually, when millions of people had been sacrificed, mankind began to adopt sanitary laws. We forget that has been a development of only the last century.

"And today we refuse to see that it is economic pressure which governs the moral conduct of man. We fight with guns—as we formerly burned at the stake—instead of conquering crime and war through equitable economic measures."

TO FOOTBALL COACHES

What hazardous employment
You are in!
Filled with genuine enjoyment
When you win.
But the risk of such endeavor
I'd refuse.
Since a football team must never,
Never lose.

You may think the battle bruising
Sport enough.
But the half backs you are using
Must be tough!
You may boast that every sweater
Manhood frames.
But to keep your job, you'd better
Win your games!

You may love the boys who enter
As your own.
But be sure you have a center
Hard as stone.
Talk of sportsmanship and honor
If you choose.
But remember you're a "goner"
If you lose.

You may set a high example
For the lads.
And you'd think that would be ample
For the "grads."
But to please the paying masses
You were hired.
So complete your forward passes
Or you're fired!

TODAY Is The Day

Copyright 1937 Central Press — By CLARK KINNAIRD

TUESDAY, JAN. 18

Once Upon Jan. 18th—When Variety, most authoritive organ of show business, recently named the greatest photoplays, the top ten naturally were headed by "The Birth of a Nation"

It would seem the cinema industry is guilty of base ingratitude as long as it fails to use the experience and surviving genius of David Wark Griffith, who directed "The Birth of a Nation", as well as "Way Down East", "Broken Blossoms" and "Intolerance", three others in the "best" lists.

Mr. Griffith is 58 years old today. Exactly three decades ago he directed his first movie—"The Adventures of Dollie," at Biograph's New York studio. He wrote the story himself as he shot the scenes.

He was the first to make a photoplay of more than one reel; he was, in fact, the first to make what could be called a photoplay, for until Griffith a motion picture depended only on motion and novelty for interest. He invented the flashback, the close-up, the fadeout and countless other directorial devices. He made the first religious drama. He developed such stars as Mary Pickford, Dorothy and Lillian Gish, Norma and Constance Talmadge, Henry B. Walthall, Lionel Barrymore, Blanche Sweet, Mae Marsh, Harry Carey, Douglas Fairbanks, Richard Barthelmess. A leading role in Griffith picture made anybody a star. His assistants became notable directors, for he was a great teacher.

Lillian Gish, whom he took as a girl of 14 and made the greatest tragedienne the screen has ever had, said recently:

"Mr. Griffith was always telling us to study people, to see every phase of life. He would send us to sit in railway stations, to observe and learn from humans how to act like humans."

No one could ever pull at the heartstrings like Griffith. But he was equally great at comedy. Mack Sennett, master of slapstick, learned the business from Griffith. D. W. took a group of his players to Germany while it was in the grip of post-war depression, and made "Isn't Life Wonderful?", a classic comedy of life among jobless, penniless people reduced to living on a diet of potatoes, that would have a special significance today. Its treatment and philosophy was to much ahead of its time to be popular when it was released, and it was tabbed a failure. But lesser and lesser directors and producers freely filched its ideas and its influence could be seen in a score of photoplays called great. And today, years after he himself stopped making pictures, no photoplay is produced that does not owe something to Griffith.

A couple of years ago, Hollywood gave Griffith a medal for his contributions to photoplay art. Why can't it give him a job that will let him contribute more?

On Other Jan. 18th: 1755—Samuel Thomas Von Sommering was born. He telegraphed messages electrically in 1809—28 years before Morse and Vail did!

1871—William I was proclaimed emperor of the German empire at Versailles and the world began thinking of his domain as Germany. But there was no such place as Germany until more than 50 years later, for Deutsches Reich, or an empire, was composed of four autonomous kingdoms, six grand-duchies, five duchies, seven principalities, three free towns and imperial territory. Not until Hitler did Deutschland become one unified Germany.

1892—Oliver Hardy, photoplay comedian, was born. Other notable birthdays today: Myron Charles Taylor, b. 1874, chairman of the board, U. S. Steel Corp.; Alan Alexander Milne, b. 1882, whimsical British novelist, humorist and playwright.

25 Years Ago Today—The first human patient was treated with the newly discovered Type I pneumonia serum—the epochal step in medical science's effort to conquer pneumonia. The patient, a sailor treated in a New York hospital, recovered. Since then, serums have been discovered for several more of the now known 32 types of pneumonia. A different serum must be used for each, but 30 per cent of all pneumonia cases are type one.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON.—Senator Walsh, (D) of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs committee, says the United States should build its navy "to a point strong enough to destroy the enemy".

"The realities demonstrate that treaties and international peace pacts afford no security."

DETROIT.—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin suggests a "permanent cure for the recession":

"I propose a voluntary regulation of production or rationalization of industry as the means to the end of annual wages for mass production workers."

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA administrator, says that never before in the history of civilization has so much power been vested in one man as that which President Roosevelt now controls:

"Russia and Germany have dictators, but when did Russia not have a dictator, and when did Germany not have a tyrant at its head. The day the government takes over control of business and industry is the day I leave for Tahiti."

Fiction Gets Start At Table

Many Plots For Fiction And Magazine Articles Hatched At Luncheons

BOOTLEGGERS AGAIN WAITERS

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The major supply of the world's fiction and magazine articles is hatched over the luncheon table. Not many writers confer with editors in the speakeasy days any more. It was long ago discovered ideas are more prolific and expansive in the metabolism of food and talk.

O. O. McIntyre

Some of the finest plots have come out of easy going luncheon conferences. Thought up at the moment and spilt. Also, experience has fostered the notion of getting the writer here full rein in ideas. Never tell him but about the things you expect from him.

Albert Payson Terhune was inspired to write his dog stories during a lunch chat with a Collie asleep at his feet. Sinclair Lewis was initiating some home town characters after a small and select dinner party when "Main Street" suddenly took form.

Judge Priest was born while Irvin Cobb was telling the late George Horace Lorimer about a lovable priest in Paducah. And so it goes through a long list of fictional favorites. A trivial incident recalled out of the past and a short story or novel is launched.

Most of those oily embryo Valentinos who popped to the peek-windows to answer the basement buzz in the speak-easy era are back waiting on tables again. And filling the usual come-easy, go-easy role are flat broke. In those days they could get away with their culinary atrocities because most of their patrons were not interested in food but the surreptitious sniffter. Only the speakeasy fellows who served excellent food—such as Perona, Billingsley and the "No. 21" crowd—in the days of bad liquor have survived with any success during post-repeal.

The household is chattery over a leaping gold-fish mystery. On three widely separated occasions a gold-fish has been found lifeless on the floor beside the rather large bowl. We have no cat and there was a different set of servants on each occasion, which precludes any suggestion of personal pique. There is generally a distance of about three inches that must be spanned before a fish could go over the brim of the bowl. Boo!

Dutton's led the way from Fifth avenue to Park with first of an elaborate book shop trek for the Gold Coast. Two similar establishments are looking for locations in the section. Outright book-buying is now confined largely to wealthier districts. In neighborhoods not so opulent the circulating libraries take care of popular novel demands and public libraries the calls for classics.

Back in the tall wheat our literary arrivals were confined to Pearson's Weekly, the Youth's Companion and the annual coming of the Old Farmer's Almanac. Most literary fledglings out yonder made the Youth's Companion the goal of their flights. I sent them a number of poems and short skits which always came back, graciously rejected. Later when I was about 16 a trifle was accepted by St. Nicholas, for which I was paid with a year's subscription. No reward for writing since has been more stimulating. Or perhaps so just.

But the biggest journalistic windfall came from the Sunday editor of a paper in St. Louis for whom I gathered material for a series of articles while a reporter in Dayton, O. The series concerned a number of strange murders by a doctor who used hyoscin. I had forwarded a number of pictures our paper had used and passed along some other data about the action of such poison. Most of the material was luridly re-written in the St. Louis office. Two months later came a check for $268, certainly an eye-popper for a $12-a-week reporter. I held it a week or so expecting to be notified of a clerical mistake. Then with some misgivings I cashed it and indulged a spending splurge that included my first Tuxedo, which I wore to see Olga Nethersole carried up the stairs by her lover in "Sappho." Also for a magnificent and dizzy week I moved out of a second-rate boarding house into the city's leading hotel. There were rumors around, which I made no effort to deny, that I had fallen heir to a snug fortune.

President Vetoes Bill Providing For Wage Increase

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—President Roosevelt on Monday vetoed a bill passed by congress which would have raised the pay of charmen and charwomen in the post office department to 55 and 60 cents an hour.

The president cited several reasons for his action, major among them the fact that it would increase the rate of pay for the char force in one branch of the government service without doing the same thing in other branches. He also pointed out the proposed increase would have stepped up the pay of one class of employes in a specific grade without taking into consideration the effect upon rates of pay for other grades.

"I deeply regret the necessity for withholding my approval of a measure which would provide increased compensation for a low-paid class of employes," said the veto message, "but I do not feel that it would be justified in taking different action with respect to a bill that would give preferential treatment to any single group of employes."

Seventy appeals have been handled by the New Castle Lodge Relief Committee since the formation of the committee shortly after the New Castle plant went down, it was stated today. The committee is available every afternoon from one to five and in the handling of cases there is no discrimination as to whether or not a man is a union member.

A high percentage of the cases come from delay in being placed on relief rolls, the committee states. The committee is composed of David Clement, Joseph Booth, Lorrin Gray, Arthur Oberleitner, Elmer Sleight, Lawrence Mackey, William Hood, Patsy Bennes, Jack Grittle and Steve Whenle.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath proposed to add some officers temporarily to the department of police, authority for the employment having been contained in a motion presented during council session by Councilman W. H. Dunlap. The motion was submitted after the mayor stated his need. Under law, the man or men named must be reappointed every 10 days providing the city desires to keep them in service. During the discussion Controller S. L. Lockley asked the mayor if temporary policemen are taken from the civil service list of eligibles. The mayor said such was not necessary but he has been doing this, adding that it was only fair to give them the jobs, explaining that they pay for a physical examination when they take a civil service test. At present there is no list of eligibles but within the next week the civil service board will have a list ready if council desires the names of eligible officers.

Councilman J. D. Alexander and colleagues conferred yesterday concerning plans for Cascade park next summer. Proposed contracts with various concessionaires were discussed.

ROUT THAT COLD

Let It Not Hang on Thru the Use of Half-way Measures!

Beware of the "common cold"! The "common cold," doctors will tell you, is the cause of more serious trouble than anything else.

Many a person who is in a pneumonia jacket today had but a "common cold" yesterday!

Take No Chances!

Neglect no cold. Take no chances with your treatment.

Treat a cold with a cold medicine, not a "cure-all." Treat it also with internal medicine. A cold is an internal infection.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) are what you want for a cold. They are, first of all, a cold tablet, made expressly for colds. Secondly, they are internal medication, fourfold in effect.

Fourfold Effect!

First, they open the bowels.

Second, they check the infection in the system.

Third, they relieve the headache and fever.

Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack.

When you feel a cold coming on, trust to no makeshift methods. Adopt the proven course of safety—take Bromo Quinine.

Take promptly, these tablets will often break up a cold in 24 hours and that's the speed you want.

Act Promptly!

Bromo Quinine tablets may be taken with confidence. They have been in use for over 40 years and are the world's largest-selling cold tablets.

Bromo Quinine tablets come in 35c and 60c sizes. The 60c size is the better "buy." It gives you almost 20 per cent more for your money.

Ask your druggist firmly for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) and accept no substitute.

A few pennies' cost may save you a world of trouble.

Presbytery In Session Here

Representatives Of 27 Churches Are Gathered At First Presbyterian Church

LYON IS ELECTED PRESBYTERY TRUSTEE

Representing 27 Presbyterian churches throughout this area, ministers and ruling elders from those congregations convened in the First Presbyterian church here today for a regular meeting of the Shenango Presbytery of the Presbyterian denomination.

Morning was devoted to presbyterial business and to an inspiring message on the denomination's "United Promotion" movement by Dr. W. M. Cleveland of Harrisburg, synodical superintendent of the Presbyterian church.

Presiding over the business session was Dr. John J. McIlvaine, pastor of the presbytery's host church and the moderator of the presbytery. Dr. Charles B. Winnerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, acted as chairman of the "United Promotion" period and introduced Dr. Cleveland.

The group met in the church's Sunday school assembly hall.

A "United Stewardship" conference in which the Shenango, Beaver and Butler presbyteries have joined, is occupying the afternoon for the assembled churchmen. Tonight at 6 a "Fellowship Supper" will take place in the First Presbyterian church.

In the morning business meeting George E. Lyon of New Castle's Central Presbyterian church was elected a trustee of the presbytery to fill the vacancy left by the death of the late William M. White.

Dr. Charles Bell was continued for another six months as the stated supply in the pastorate of the Harlansburg Presbyterian church, and Rev. G. O. Brown was continued in that capacity for six months at the Hopewell Presbyterian church, New Bedford.

Benefit Underprivileged Child Fund

Kiwanis 'Anchors Aweigh' Thursday, Friday Nights; Report Talent Is Tops

There'll be no seasickness while the audience is aboard the good old travel ship, "Kiwanis Showboat", in the auditorium of the Cathedral on Thursday and Friday evenings, Jan. 20 and 21, Dr. Amzie G. Reynolds, general chairman of the Kiwanis show committee, suggested today, for there are too many attractive sailorettes and hostesses, handsome officers and crew hands and riotous and talented entertainers.

"It'll be one grand show", said he. "Anchors Aweigh" is presented by the Kiwanis club for the benefit of underprivileged child work, the organization's charitable project. Fine support is being received throughout the city from both the artistic and financial standpoint. A cast of 143 have been rehearsing afternoon and evening for the past two weeks in the perfection of their roles. One of the pretty scenes in the production will be the "Shop Window in Paris", in which four bridesmaids, with a charming bride gowned and garbed in the styles of 1888, and four best men, with the groom also dressed in period costumes, are posed as wax models in a large department store window in Paris. Miss Sarah Nitsche sings a beautiful number called "Why Must We Dream" and the figures come to life and a wedding ceremony takes place. The couples dance happily only to return to their wax positions at the end of a beautiful dream. Charlotte Confer makes a very attractive bride and Jack Muse the handsome groom. The maids are Helen Woods, Gertrude Harbart, Alma Kivine and Betty Conover. The best men are Don Jones, William Montanary, Evan Lewis and Thomas Weddell. The minister is James A. Bowman.

Tickets are now on sale throughout the city by all members of the cast. Reservations may be had starting Wednesday. Buy your tickets early and avoid the possible disappointment of being disappointed.

Employment Best In Iowa

Rhode Island Has Largest Percent Of Unemployment Census Shows

FIGURES GIVEN OUT BY BIGGERS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON Jan. 18—John D. Biggers, administrator of the unemployment census, today completed his initial report to President Roosevelt by publishing a compilation of unemployed and partly employed totals in each county and every city over 10,000 population.

The breakdown also contained the relationship between the unemployed and partly employed to the populations of the states.

He estimated that 4.5 per cent of the estimated population of the country as of July 1, 1937, registered as totally unemployed, and 1.5 per cent as working at WPA, CCC, NYA or other emergency work.

Biggers estimated there was a total of between 7,800,000 and 10,800,000 totally unemployed when the census was taken in mid-November. According to a "test" compulsory tabulation, he said, the 7,800,000 figure was 72 per cent accurate.

The partly employed total ranged from 3,209,211 and 5,630,000, a test tabulation finding the lowt figure 57 per cent accurate.

Biggers, admitting the totals must be brought up to date and probably contained many inaccuracies, said it was pointless to apply the enumerative tests to local areas because of the varying conditions that governed them.

Iowa Has Best Record

Iowa, reporting 2.4 per cent of its estimated 1937 population as unemployed, and .9 per cent on emergency work, has the lowest record, while Rhode Island, with 6.4 per cent totally unemployed and 2.2 per cent on federal payrolls, recorded the highest proportion to population.

The lowest states and their respective percentages of totally unemployed, besides Iowa, were:

North Carolina 2.5; Vermont 2.7; Nevada 3.1; Virginia 3.1; Nebraska 3.3; Delaware 3.4; Wyoming 3.3; Kansas 3.5; Maryland 3.5.

States recording the highest proportion to population, other than Rhode Island, were:

District of Columbia 6.0; New York 5.9; Oregon 5.7; Pennsylvania 5.6; Massachusetts 5.6; Washington State 5.4; Montana 5.3; Alabama 5.2; New Hampshire 5.0; New Jersey 5.0.

Subsequent reports will be made on such subjects as age, color, occupation and industry, dependents, income and the number of weeks worked during the past year for each of the several unemployed classes.

Honor Safe Drivers Of Bell Telephone Company

Pictured above are six New Castle employes of the Bell Telephone company, charter members of the Bell Telephone Hundred Thousand Mile club, who have driven company automobiles for a period of ten years or more, and who have traveled a hundred thousand miles or more without a chargeable accident.

Above, in the top row, left to right are—Ralph M. Nevel, and Jesse Gates; bottom row, Francis D. McPheeters, Charles C. Andrews, and Norman A. Bintrim. (Thos. G. McCoy appears below.)

Highway safety gained new momentum last night throughout Pennsylvania and Delaware, with the organization of the Bell Telephone Hundred Thousand Mile clubs, locally, and in 19 other cities of the two states. This club is composed of Bell Telephone drivers who have operated company cars for at least ten years, driven 100,000 miles or more, without being responsible for a single accident.

Roy G. McCoy

Locally the inauguration of this club was featured by an excellent dinner at The Castleton, following which the members of the club, 12 in all from the New Castle district, were presented with certificates and handsome leather bill folds.

Immediately following the dinner, the 19 cities were linked together over the network of the company, and by use of loudspeakers, those assembled in the central locations heard official.. of the telephone company address them on the significance of this organization.

Judge Dickey Speaks

In addition to the members of the organization who were being honored at this first gathering, wives of these men, civic leaders, and telephone officials were in attendance.

The principal speaker at the local meeting was Judge Thomas W. Dickey, who commended the foundation of the new organization, and the drivers for their outstanding records. Judge Dickey recalled the early days of the telephone company in New Castle, when he collected the bills for the company, at which time the list of subscribers numbered some ninety odd individuals.

He recalled that Frank "Buck" Smith, was the night operator, and his sister, Clara, now Mrs. Harry Gregory, widow of the late Attorney H. H. Gregory, was day operator.

Bolen Presides

District Plant Superintendent Charles A. Bolen, presided as chairman of the meeting, and general plant manager Charles S. Krouse, who served as plant manager here some years ago, made the presentations to the employes.

Frank E. Potter, combination man, of Ellwood City, who with Ralph M. Nevel, of the local plant force, has a safety recording extending over a period of 22 years, responded in behalf of the 12 members in the local district.

In addition to the group pictured above the charter members from the New Castle district include: Robert H. Alexander, of Greenville; Grant L. Hawthorne, Albert W. Kahle, Lloyd C. Palmer and Harry S. Seiple of Sharon, and Frank E. Potter, of Ellwood City.

Statewide Addresses

By means of the telephone hookup, those at the local meeting heard addresses by Rear Admiral Percy W. Foote, commissioner of Pennsylvania Motor Police; Philip C. Staples, president of the Bell Telephone company, of Pennsylvania; E. M. Prisk, assistant to the president, and W. W. Henderson, secretary of the Employes Benefit committee.

In addition to Judge Dickey, the principal speaker, the following men, prominent in safety activities, attended the gathering: C. B. Lartz and A. W. McDowell, Sharon publishers; Corporal G. F. Keck, of the Pennsylvania Motor Police; Mayor Charles E. McGrath, city commissioner, J. Myron Rice; fire chief A. P. McIlwain; chief of police, R. G. Criswell, and Thomas L. Paden, B. N. (International News Service)

SHELBURNE FALLS, Mass., Jan. 18.—Celebration of her 102nd birthday was the occasion for two very happy events for Mrs. Electa Stratton. Despite a large amount of gifts and mail her greatest thrill of the day was the return home for the day of her son George. Another thrill was provided by the gift of a cake by an 80 year old gentleman from Westfield.

Manufacturer Declares 44-Hour Week Law Cripples Business

Law Assailed As Unjust Burden

Kane Manufacturer Gives Testimony In Hearing Being Held In Harrisburg

PRELIMINARY TO COURT DECISION

By DICK SHANER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18.—The new hours limitation act approved by the last session of the legislature was pictured today as an unjust burden on Pennsylvania industries as opposing attorneys sought to establish a set of basic facts for a supreme court test of its constitutionality.

Appearing as the first witness in the preliminary lower court skirmishes, James E. Henretta, president and general manager of the Holgate Brothers Manufacturing company of Kane, Pa., a wood specialities firm, inferred that unfair advantages given outside competitors by the 44-hour week law may force him to seek a new location for his business.

Would Cripple Business

Henretta testified that the anticipated increase in the cost of production under the hours limitation act was responsible for a reduction in the size of one order from a steady customer and that if the law is upheld and enforced, it would seriously cripple his business.

As a result, the 150-year-old native Pennsylvania concern may be forced to seek new locations unaffected by such legislation, he said. Sites in Vermont and New Hampshire are now under consideration, he declared.

The Holgate firm filed the original suit questioning validity of the 44-hour law. Since then more than 700 other industries in the state have been granted permission to intervene as co-plaintiffs. The supreme court was asked to assume original jurisdiction to expedite a decision on it's validity but it refused until basic legal facts were agreed upon by contesting firms.

Outside Firms Get Advantage

"If the law is enforced," Henretta testified, "outside firms would have the advantage of lower labor costs, lower material costs and lower general overhead expenses."

He revealed that he has already contracted with a New York firm to supply his concern with 800,000 square feet of lumber on demand, "because the rise of prices of raw materials due to the 44-hour week law has made it impossible for us to purchase lumber from Pennsylvania concerns."

His firm has already lost two-thirds of an annual order because it was necessary to predicate prices on the 44-hour week law and increase them accordingly, he testified. Henretta was the only witness during the day as the parties concerned set out to establish facts before presiding Judge W. C. Sheely of Gettysburg.

Shortly after the hearing opened, three attorneys "protesting the constitutional right of 3,000,000 Pennsylvania workers" were granted permission to intervene as co-defendants in the case.

Dr. Johnston Is Named As Medical Aide For Police

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18.—Dr. David A. Johnston of Hazleton on Monday was named surgeon and medical officer of the Pennsylvania motor police with a ranking of major. His annual salary is $5,000.

"I find that there is a large amount of work which should be done by a medical officer to conducting physical examinations and otherwise maintaining the health and physical condition of members of the force," Commissioner Percy W. Foote said, in announcing the appointment.

Dr. Johnston had been assistant surgeon at the Hazleton state hospital for the past seven years.

'Stay-In' Strike Ends At Plant

Five Hundred Men Leave Plant Of Crucible Steel Co., In New Jersey

(International News Service)

HARRISON, N. J., Jan. 18.—After staging a "stay-in" strike lasting more than 15 hours, which completely tied up the huge Atha works of the Crucible Steel Co., of America here, 500 members of the steel workers' organization committee, a CIO affiliate, walked out in peaceable formation early today.

Their action followed a promise made by Chief of Police Peter F. Brady that "everything possible would be done" to prevent strike-breakers from replacing them, pending peace negotiations with the company.

A. L. Van Cleve, general superintendent of the plant, immediately went into conference with union leaders, but afterwards refused to make any statement. Indications were no settlement had been reached.

The demonstration began when 1,000 men of the day shift entered the plant, but refused to work. Fifty strikers stationed themselves at the gate of the plant's only entrance and refused to permit trucks serving the company from entering or leaving the grounds. There was no disorder.

The union's chief charge was that the company had violated the contract it signed following a one-day strike at the plant last April. It was claimed that three union men, active in CIO organization, had been laid off without cause.

Breakfast In Paris And Dinner In New York Is Prediction For 1940

(International News Service)

PARIS, Jan. 18.—Breakfast in Paris and dinner in New York will be realized in 1940!

France is building two giant transatlantic airliners for such a service, the Ministry of Air announced today.

They will be six-motored Latecoere ships, 65 tons, streamlined, with de luxe accommodations for twenty passengers equal to the luxury of any great liner.

Their cruising range will be 4,000 miles, and they will average some 215 miles per hour—even against a contrary wind estimated at 40 miles per hour—so they will take their speeding passengers from France to America or vice versa in about 14 hours.

Time Difference A Factor

It will be possible, just three years from now, to have a cafe au lait at the Cafe de la Paix, and, due to the five hours' difference in time between Paris and New York, have tea in Gotham.

There will be eight in the crew of these formidable airliners, and they will carry no less than three tons of freight and mail.

A meteorological ship, the Carimare, will cruise in mid-ocean, to advise the flying liners of atmospheric conditions.

Temporary plans—under the direction of Marcel Olivier, president of the French Line—envisage the airports as Biscarosse, just south of Bordeaux, and Port Washington, Long Island.

MME. CHIANG IS RESPONSIBLE FOR CHINA'S RESISTANCE

000 Chinese into a militant force, first drive all the whites out of Asia and then conquer nothing less than the world.

Between Japan and this cosmic ambition stands today in the first line the slim, brilliant, smiling Madame.

She is first Chinese, but second she is an American Methodist and it is her Americanism and Methodism that have put backbone into China's struggle.

Without Madame her husband might very well behave like most Chinese generals behaved in the past and accepting the reality of defeat make terms with the victors. He cannot do it with Madame there, no matter how plain defeat comes.

Detonations Cease

We all saw it that fatal day in Shanghai when Chiang's 88th Division was compelled to withdraw from Chapei, the Chinese city next door to the international settlement. That morning I was awakened at dawn by a lack of those earth-quaking explosions which for nearly three months had shattered Shanghai. We had become so accustomed to the detonations that when they ceased everybody went out to see why.

I went out on the balcony of my room on the tenth floor of my hotel and through field-glasses looked from end to end of Chapei. I looked at the famous North Station, key to the whole Chinese position in Shanghai. It was the same as ever—full of holes, blackened and battered.

Just a few days before I had been on top of it with Chinese watching Japanese machine-gunners pepper us and crouching when Japanese airplanes bombed us. This building truly was the most hotly-contested of any point in the whole Sino-Japanese war.

The Japanese wanted it so badly that for three months they concentrated all their fire on it. They bombed it from the air for hours each day. They shelled it from naval vessels practically all day long.

For several weeks I counted the number of shells and bombs which landed on or near the North Station. They averaged 100 a day. The Chinese centered their elite army corps on the defense of Shanghai. That meant defense of Chapei, and that meant defense of the North Station.

Japanese Flag On Top

Suddenly as I turned my field-glasses back on that famous building I saw atop its shattered wireless mast ranging high on the horizon a Japanese flag—a big white flag with the red ball of the rising sun waving brilliantly in the sunshine.

I shivered and looked around the city. On every roof stood hundreds of Chinese, all looking at that Japanese flag. I could feel the same shiver shaking them all. My Chinese room-boy Sing Poo came out on the balcony and asked: "Master, is it the end?"

I had to say yes.

Next day we went to the top of the North Station again, this time with the Japanese, and watched flames consume Chapei in the greatest fire perhaps of all time. A fortnight later the Chinese, crushed by loss of Chapei, were torn by the savage hands of General Iwane Matsui's troops away from Shanghai.

Great talk was heard of fighting to the last man but only a few weeks later the Japanese entered Nanking.

They drove the Chinese before them almost as fast as the Japanese army could move. Each so-called "Hindenburg Line" was conquered as soon as the Japanese reached it. Chinese morale was almost destroyed. Almost, but not quite, for there still remained Madame, and unless she has fooled all her friends, all who pretend to know human nature, she will never surrender.

Woman Stands Firm

And as long as she lives her husband cannot surrender. And as long as he persists, even if it's only with one or two divisions hiding in the foothills of the Himalayas there will be a government of China which the powers are bound to recognize.

Madame knows Haile Selassie's fate and has taken a leaf from his book of experience. She knows Haile committed a fatal error when he fled abroad to appeal to the League of Nations.

Today the Italian conquest of Abyssinia is recognized de factor by all nations and de jure by one after the other, primarily because Haile Selassie left Abyssinia without a government.

Madame is not going to let Chiang Kai-Shek make that mistake.

Madame intends that Chiang Kai-Shek shall hang on until "something happens." It almost happened when the Japanese bombed and machine-gunned the British six times in succession. Chinese hopes soared high again when the Japanese sunk the Panay. Anything could happen at any time along the Russian frontier.

I do not believe Madame any longer truly hopes the Japanese will break down economically before China does. She and the generalissimo pray—and when they pray they do it according to the American Methodist rite—for but one thing.

They know the Chinese cannot longer defend China effectively. There one hope is that we, Britain or Russia shall be forced into war by Japanese provocation.

What chance is there of that? Shanghai provides the answer.

Missing Man Is Seen In Clermont Purchasing Food

Report C. C. Vandermark, 57, Had Pistol Strapped On Side, Bought Food

POLICE CONTINUE TO SEARCH WOODS

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., Jan. 18.—An unshaven man, wearing a cartridge belt and pistol who bought a large supply of food at Clermont, 18 miles east of here, was positively identified today as C. C. Vandermark, 57, who disappeared over a week ago with an 18-year-old girl, leaving behind him his 80-year-old wife and two adopted children.

With the revelation that the missing man was still in the neighborhood, county and state police renewed their investigation into the couple's disappearance.

Alone At Time.

Three persons—a Mrs. L. A. Berkhouse, James Sample, 14, and Carl Hazman, 13—identified Vandermark from a protograph as purchasing food at Peterson's store at Clemont on Saturday. The couple vanished last Tuesday, tracks leading from their automobile into the snow-covered mountain wilds of McKean county.

Vandermark was unaccompanied by the girl, Miss Florence Williams, it was said, and made off in an unknown direction once he had purchased his food.

State motor police said the territory into which he disappeared was too large and the snow too deep to check every hunting lodge and were consequently expected to watch nearby settlements in an attempt to apprehend Vandermark when he came out again for provisions.

Case Of A Picket Being Picketed

PICKET, RIGHT, BEING PICKETED IN ST. LOUIS

This embarrassing picket situation arose in St. Louis when Mrs. Anthony Sarkis, owner of a linoleum firm, hired her own picket to picket the picket sent by a union. The hired picket was a Negro woman, wearing a bright flowered dress and carrying a large bouquet of flowers and a "just married" sign. She walked placidly up and down beside the union picket, who did not appear at all perturbed.

Soviet Says Rubenses Are Being Detained

Soviet Finally Lifts Veil Of Secrecy Over Disappearance Of Couple

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The Soviet government today lifted the veil of mystery which has surrounded for more than a month the disappearance in Moscow of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Arnold Rubens.

In an oral reply to a formal note by the American government, the Soviet authorities today admitted the mysterious couple are under arrest, suspected of espionage.

Mrs. Rubens, who has been definitely identified as an American citizen, is being detained for questioning, the Soviet government admitted, and while no formal charge has been made against her, she is suspected of engaging in espionage and entered the Soviet Union under a fraudulent passport.

The couple was living in Moscow, the Soviet authorities stated, under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Louis Robinson. State department investigation of the mysterious case has established that these identities were taken from long-dead children who are buried in New York City.

The couple obtained passports under the identities of the Robinsons and also the Rubens. Rubens' nationality is not known, although he claimed to have been born in Latvia and to be an American citizen through naturalization of his father. State department investigation, however, has proved the father Rubens claimed also was falsified.

The Soviet authorities admitted that Rubens was arrested at Sverdlovsk, a town in the Ural mountains early in December. He was found to possess numerous passports from various countries, including the American passport issued to Donald L. Robinson, the Soviet authorities stated.

Mrs. Rubens was then arrested at the national hotel in Moscow, where she was residing, and held for questioning. She is still being detained, the foreign office stated, as her examination has not been completed. The Soviet authorities explained that she was arrested in the hope that by questioning her more information in regard to the activities of herself and her husband could be obtained.

"Philosophy of Life and What to Expect from Life" was the title of the address delivered by Rev. J. J. McIlvaine, of the First Presbyterian church, before members of the New Castle Exchange club, Monday evening.

"If you expect great things from yourself, others and God, you are more apt to get them if you don't expect. If you go out with expectations, your chances are greater," Rev. McIlvaine said. His address proved instructive and was thoroughly enjoyed by the group. A business meeting was held later in the evening. The next meeting will be held on Monday noon in the Elks club, North Mill street.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Knox Has Plan For Monopolies

Would Curb Monopolies By Changing Protective Tariff In United States

HIGH WAGES ARE NOT OFTEN BEST

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Col. Frank Knox, who ran vice presidentially on the Republican Landon ticket in 1936, is out with an anti-monopolistic suggestion which many congressional Democrats are saying that their own party ought to grab at and make the most of.

The colonel's thesis is that excessive tariff protection, more than any other one thing, has been responsible for America's monopoly evils.

Of course.

Except for our protective system American industry would have had the competition of imported products to reckon with; therefore it could not have sky-hooted domestic prices unduly.

• • •

HIGH PRICES

Industry's argument has been that its high prices have enabled it to pay high wages.

To be sure, counted in dollars and cents, American wages HAVE been high, compared with old world wages. However they have not been as high, relatively, as the prices American wage earners have had to pay for their livings. In a country, like ours, where $1 will not go as far as 50 cents in some other country, the laugh is on the $1 recipient; not on the 50-cent recipient.

Nevertheless, American labor persistently has been "sold" on the protective philosophy.

• • •

AS STEWART SEES IT

American industrial labor undoubtedly would have been squeezed by protected employerdom much more severely than it HAS been squeezed except for its partially effective unionization. It has had to fight like sixty for its rights, but it has maintained a modicum of them.

American white collar toilers have been worse off, because unorganized. They have been stung by high living costs, with proportionately lower incomes.

I know the newspaper business best. White collar editorial forces (until recently unorganized) never have been as well paid as the press' organized mechanical forces. I am not jealous; I mention it as a fact merely. The rule certainly holds good generally.

• • •

WHO BENEFITS?

Here are two-thirds of us, mulcted by tariff protection:

Urban labor mulcted somewhat; white collarites mulcted considerably.

Now the other one-third?—agriculture.

The average farmer cannot possibly be benefited by tariff protection, because mainly he is an exporter.

The American cotton planter?—for example. He raises so much cotton that he cannot possibly sell more than about 40 per cent of his crop in the U. S. A. He needs foreign markets for the remaining 60 per cent. An import tax makes everything that he has to BUY cost him more. It cannot imaginably increase prices he seeks as an exporter.

Most American farmers are in the same fix.

• • •

"ROBBING PETER TO——?"

America's congressional representation has recognized all this for a long time.

Its agricultural spokesmanship has been for free trade, and a bit of its other spokesmanship has been equally intelligent. But our protection complex has been so overpowering that common sense has not signified.

Import levies cannot help but must harm agriculture. That is obvious.

Accordingly, the scheme has been, while protecting industry, to subsidize agriculture.

That is to say:

To subsidize industry to agriculture's disadvantage, while subsidizing agriculture to industry's disadvantage.

It has not worked satisfactorily, naturally.

• • •

LOG-ROLLING

Tariff log-rolling has raised Cain also.

The Hooverian days, when the Smoot-Hawley tariff law was being concocted, there were two heavy levies proposed which puzzled me.

One called for a heavy import impost on manganese, essential to steel production. The other called for an equally heavy impost on a certain sort of clay, required for the production of fine china. The U. S. produces, in and around Montana, about 20 per cent as much manganese as America requires—not nearly enough to go around. The right kind of clay had come from France exclusively.

One would think, I submit, that manganese and that particular kind of clay should have been welcome in this country.

Yet Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana voted a thumping impost on manganese; Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina for a similar impost on that particular brand of clay-china.

"Well," said Senator Wheeler, "Montana produces manganese."

"We have," said Senator Smith, "a mountain of that kind of clay in South Carolina."

• • •

QUEER!

The whole argument seems to be that our protective tariffs are responsible for our depressions.

The queer thing is that, while Democrats always have said so—a Republican, Colonel Knox, proclaims it.

BESSEMER

TROOP COMMITTEE MEETING

Sunday afternoon the troop committee of Bessemer Troop 1 met in the apartment of Scoutmaster King to draw up plans for observing Boy Scout week.

National Boy Scout week will be the week of February 5-February 12. Several committees were appointed and it was decided to extend an invitation to all the troops of the newly formed Bessemer district to participate in a Sunday evening service and in a joint district hike.

It is the hope of the group that everyone will co-operate to make both the events entirely successful.

SCOUT HIKE

Saturday, January 15 the following boys of Troop 1 and 2 of Bessemer Boy Scouts went hiking: C. Book, G. Nelson, P. Johnson, H. Conner, J. McIlvenny D. Nelson, H. Johnson, H. Heard, D. Hardesty, J. Martin, R. Rowe, D. Young., F. Galletta, Glasgow, Tenhula, Summers, Mioni, Mehocic, and assistant DeArment, and Scoutmaster King of Troop 1.

An observation game was played on the way to the destination. The following kinds of birds were seen and identified: Chickadee, nuthatch, downy woodpecker, tufted titmouse, crow, tree sparrow and cardinal. There were 23 different kinds of trees found and identified.

Upon arriving at the location the scouts immediately set about getting their lunch cooked. Pork chops, pancakes, baked potatoes, hunter's stew, fried eggs, sausage and hamburgers, only being a partial list of the good things cooked. Tests were passed in second class firebuilding and first class cooking.

The trip home was rather uneventful although the "Indian file" type of formation made the group look like a disciplined group rather than an unorganized mob.

Scout meeting Friday evening.

Charge Worthless Checks Are Passed

GROVE CITY, Jan. 18.—N. J. Nellis, 40, of near Mercer, is in jail in default of $3,000 bail, after a hearing before O. E. Irwin here on a charge of passing worthless checks.

Nellis admitted he had forged the name of his employer to three checks, which local merchants cashed. Each check was for $40, the exact amount of his monthly salary from John Hughes, fruit farmer living near Mercer. Nellis paved the way for passing the bad checks last fall, when he accompanied Mr. Hughes to Grove City to sell apples. On Mr. Hughes' identification, bona fide checks were cashed at two local garages and a grocery store.

When, on Jan. 3rd and 4th, Nellis appeared alone at each of the three places he had previously cashed checks, he had no trouble in obtaining $40 for each of three checks bearing Mr. Hughes' signature. Later, the signatures were discovered to be forgeries. Local police visited the Hughes farm, and brought Nellis before Squire Irwin, where he confessed. He was sent to jail in default of $1,000 bail for each bad check.

Big Gas Gusher Is Blown In Near Bradford, Penna.

New Well Has Production Of 6,000,000 Cubic Feet Daily

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 18.—Production of 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily was reported today in the E. A. Williams-John Becker well, in a gusher area located in the Lewis Run district, nine miles south of here.

Blowing in Saturday with a flow of 5,000,000 feet, the well increased a million feet yesterday following drilling three feet deeper into the sand, guarge records indicated.

The gas was reported coming from fertile sliverville sand which has provided three oil gushers for two other companies, the Niagara Oil corporation and Minard Run Oil company, both of Bradford.

Gas pressure, coupled with the presence of oil in the sand, was said to have caused the gushers. Sliverville sand was found at 1697 feet.

For some time the well, with one of the largest rates of production ever struck in McKean county, had been producing gas. Production was reported as 100,000 cubic feet last Friday.

Following the deepening of the well, the drilling was discontinued and workers were preparing to tube the well.

The whistle of the escaping gas was reported heard in Lewis Run several miles distance from the location of the well.

Harbinger Of Spring When Ball Teams Start South For Workouts

By DICK SHANER,
International News Service Sports Writer

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18—Short and sweet!

Harbingers of spring and that favored pasture of thousands upon thousands of full-blooded American baseball have been popping in both the eastern and western ends of the state . . . baseball writers in the league towns have started to chronicle the latest from their special section of the sports world . . . in Pittsburgh, they're talking about spring training and what the plans are for the pre-season camp work . . . in Philadelphia, they're scribbling off shop talkes about who's signing contracts and who isn't . . . but, for an off-the-record observation, won't it be swell to hear the old apple smacking into someone's glove . . . or the crack of a bat as someone poles a long one . . . and last but not least, the familiar old shout "play ball?"

Winters are dull seasons for the fellows who eat and sleep baseball . . . and especially dull for those who care little for basketball . . . from the end of both baseball and football seasons in one year until the following spring, they skim through sports sections in record times . . . but at the first harbinger of baseball season, watch them perk up . . . a complete rejuvenation as they gather 'round to discuss averages and thrill-plays . . . a sure sign, more authentic than the robin, that spring is just around the corner . . . and with it, baseball.

"It's a lot of fun, too, in the early spring, to speculate on the holdouts and how soon they'll finally give in and sign . . . the old timers who are slowly approaching the time when they'll be washed out usually sign the first part shoved within their reach . . . the younger ones still trying to make a name for themselves also reach quite rapidly for the nearest fountain pen when a contract is in the immediate neighborhood . . . but those boys who think they're worth more than the big boss paid on last season, they're the ones who provide the fun . . . especially the ones who call their owners, managers and everybody connected with the front office all kinds of roughly names and hurl all kinds of inferences about keeping a strangle hold on the purse strings . . . and a couple of weeks later, they have their picture taken shaking hands with one and all, a big smile on their face saying "shucks, boss, t'weren't nothing . . . you knew I was only kidding."

From the scrap book: Bronko Nagurski, the gent who made quite a name for himself in the grunt and groan industry and on the gridiron, is going out of circulation for about six weeks . . . He has to have an operation for a chipped shoulder . . .

Methodists Top Third U. P. Five In Title Battle

Score Is 25 To 23 In Fast Game At "Y" Floor, Elimination Contest

The First Methodist church basketball team topped the Third U. P. 25 to 23 in the first of the church league elimination games last night at the "Y" floor. The game was a humdinger in every sense of the word. Not until the final second was the contest decided.

The First M. E. team will now meet the winner of the Tifereth Israel and First Baptist game that will be played Wednesday night. The winner of the game Wednesday night will be the first half champs in the church league.

Cloak and Lockley paced the First M. E. team to its victory last night with 16 of the points between them. Meermans at guard played a fine game also and had six of the points. For the Third U. P. team the work of Kerr and Mann was the best.

The Second U. P. lost to the Central Presbyterians 33 to 23 in the first preliminary game, with Jackson and McKee the big stars.

In the second preliminary game the Gersons, a fast semi-pro team, handed the First Christians of the church league a 38 to 26 setback, with Mike Kulich, Hordig, F. Neyman and Hughes the leading scorers.

Rambling Around In Local Sports World

Rose Bowl game dull event . . . the Rose Bowl grid game between Alabama and California was a dull sporting event according to David Victor of Highland avenue, who returned Sunday evening following an extended visit in Sunny Cal . . . the affair lacked thrills . . . the Rambling Reporter asked Mr. Victor how Pitt would fare against either one of the teams . . . "Pitt would beat Alabama the first half and then turn around and lick California in the second half," was the reply.

Found in the Rambling Reporter's mail box . . . here's an anonymous letter which contains the following: . . . What's the matter with all the fox hunters this year . . . there is plenty of snow for tracking and trailing. Why can't a gang of fellows get together some Saturday while there is snow and have a fox hunt. What do you hunters say. It's all right with the Rambling Reporter, but who do you see to make arrangements, etc.? . . . Another note informs us that John George, of Uber street, got his start by wrestling at the Y. M. C. A. . . . then entered Illinois, will be graduated this year and is already coaching wrestling at Urbana high school. . . . Here's a warning which made up part of the following note. . . . The Falcons and Keystones have to watch K. Pulaski big five, Mahoning A. A., Gersons, St. Nicholas, N. Y. A., Kippus club and Slovak Sokols before they can consider themselves champs . . . the Pulaski team has Knat, Chernyavski, J. Ostrosky, Telesz, Wotowitz, Boron, Baling, Presnar, Janoski, Kolcz and Ryczay. . . . Gersons have F. Wailo, Durkin, Hordig, F. Neyman, Parou, Latinean, Small, Jones, Harris, Perch, Parker and Kulich. . . . N. Y. A. club has Toscano, DeCaprio, B. Ostrosky, Reda, Styer, N. Ross, Cooper, G. Ross, E. Ostrosky, Mumford. . . . The St. Nicks consist of S. Teplica, Hordig, Small, J. Teplica, Warso, N. Uram, M. Polcnick, Dudo and J. Polenick.

The besta of the besta . . . and here's a sports follower crashing through with the best 12 players in the independent ranks here . . . He picks Joe Ostrosky of K. Pulaski, Henry Koszela of Polish Falcons, Skinnie Wainio, Gersons; Joe Kelly, Pop Adams, Bus Reiber, Paul Morrison, of Keystones; Joe Cooper of N. Y. A.; John Teplica, of St. Nicholas; Elmer Wainio of Epworth M. E.; John Carik of Slovak Sokols, and Kaiser Toscano, of N. Y. A. . . . Another letter asks us to pick the Sectional 21 winners . . . unless something unforseen occurs, we are compelled to select Union township high school, which is leading with four and no losses. . . . Tonight the Solland Laners get their test when they buck against the strong Bessemer club. . . . A loss for Union will again deadlock the sectional race. . . . This Wampum club may surprise.

This and that . . . according to several of our friends, Sonja Henie, the champ skater, is really skating her way into the hearts of Clevelanders . . . after learning that Joe DiMaggio was named the player of the year, we were sort of inclined to believe that it took the New Yokahs an exceptionally long time to come to that conclusion. . . . A lad who clubs . . . the ball for 46 homers, leads both circuits in runs scored, homers, total bases, and is blessed with a throwing arm which ranks among the best in the big show, is tops with us all the way through . . . and, without hesitation either. . . . Penn State's Sol Miehoff is setting the pace in the Eastern Intercollegiate conference. . . . To date he has popped in 11 field goals and nine Anne Oakleys for 31 markers . . . the speeches dished out by Woody Jensen, the Waner lads and Hoyt, against the Pittsburgh Pirates were played up throughout the country . . . now the world anxiously awaits the outcome . . . Jensen now claims that he was misquoted while the Waners pass away the hours biffing away at golf balls.

Bessemer loses stellar guard . . . Milton A. Swanson, Box 316, Bessemer, drops in a note telling the Rambling Reporter that . . . Lawrence county basketball fans will not see Willard "Bill" Anderson, Bessemer high school stellar guard, in action again this season due to the fact that he is now confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital recovering from appendix operation. . . . Here's to a speedy recovery.

Note: Brief contributions welcomed.

Villanova To Battle Titans

Game Takes Place Tonight In Westminster College Gymnasium

FLASHY CONTEST EXPECTED BY FANS

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 18.—Boasting ten consecutive wins, the Villanova Wildcats tackle the Westminster five in the Titan gym tonight in a return game after humbling the Blue and White 27-10 in Philadelphia last season.

Coach Severance has no seniors on his squad, and the Cats will depend on Jim Montgomery, high scoring center, and "Duke" Duzmanski, sophomore find, to break the Titan defense. Montgomery is a deadly shot under the basket, while his sophomore team mate specializes in field goals from mid-floor.

Krutulis, vigilante, and Lazorchak are the other probable Villanova starters, while Coach Washabaugh of the Titans will probably start Backus at center, demo and Gilliland at forwards, and Miller and Krivosh at the backcourt posts.

After averaging 53 points per game in their first four encounters, the Westminster offense struck a snag in the Geneva game, and the Titans gathered only 27 points, with Demo, high point Johnstown forward, striking his first off night of the season.

Coach Washabaugh, in an effort to improve the Blue and White defense, is attempting to shift his men into a modified zone which will enable the club to meet successfully varied types of offensive attack.

With losses to Geneva and Carnegie Tech, the Washabaughmen will be seeking to add to their victory sheet, which includes wins over Kent State, Slippery Rock and Bethany. The Titan-Wildcat game is called for 8 o'clock on the New Wilmington floor.

MAHONING WANTS GAME

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Villanova college invaded western Pennsylvania successfully last night, their first victory having been over Geneva 43 to 32 at Beaver Falls. Steve Duzminski, guard, took the lead a few minutes after the first whistle and the easterners were never headed. The Covenanters were in poor shooting form and failed to score from the floor until two minutes before the intermission.

Three thousand spectators saw Pitt defeat Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh last night 50 to 33. It gave Pitt a deadlock with Penn State and Georgetown for top place in the Eastern conference. Zelesnik, forward, and Radvansky, guard, scored 12 and 14 points respectively and W. Miller, guard for Carnegie Tech, scored 14 times.

Joe Medwick, voted the most valuable player in the National league, has returned his contract unsigned to the Cards. The latter offered him a raise in salary but not enough according to Joe, who said he is a reluctant holdout.

Farr On Edge For Bout With Jim Braddock

Welsh Heavyweight Is Ordered By Doctor To Take It Easy This Week

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Having come perilously close to scoring a victory over Champion Joe Louis, a puncher, by boxing, Tommy Farr is going to try to whip Jim Braddock, a boxer, by punching on Friday night, according to the routine he is following in his Summit, N. J., training camp.

The Welsh battler today reiterated he did not know exactly how he would fight Braddock, everything depending upon how Braddock fought, but he has been concentrating on blasting with a seriousness and determination indicating that he will walk out against the former champion blazing away with both guns right from the beginning.

All in all, it adds up into a good fight, and Promoter Mike Jacobs predicted "conservatively" a gate of $70,000 to see what probably will be the first of two bouts that will lead Farr back into a title challenge next September. At any rate, the odds are 8 to 5 and lengthening on him to win, and possibly knock out Braddock and go on from there through Max Baer, who happens to be another ex-champion. Baer also happens to be a fighter already soundly trounced once by Farr.

Told To Rest

The Welsh heavyweight is using up his sparring partners as fast as they are herded into camp, belaboring them with a vicious attack that has floored most of them and carried on unrelentlessly until yesterday. He let up at the suggestion of Dr. William G. Walker, boxing commission physician, who visited Farr's camps accompanied by Commission Chairman John J. Phelan.

Dr. Walker found Farr getting too "fine" physically, and advised the British empire title-holder to taper off from here on out.

Only 23 years old, a fast boxer, fairish hitter and superb absorber of punishment, Farr figures to be a 2 to 1 favorite at the ringside, over the ageing and none too agile Braddock.

Jock Sutherland Presides At Ceremony In College Chapel Today

FOURTEEN VARSITY LETTERS PRESENTED

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 18—Dr. Jock Sutherland, Pitt football mentor, presided at Westminster College's athletic chapel services today as 17 Titan football players were honored with letters and sweaters for the 1937 season. Of the 14 regular varsity letter winners, 13 will be eligible for 1938.

Fourteen varsity letters, three honorary senior awards, and one manager's letter were given out to Coach Grover C. Washabaugh's gridders. John Suske, Struthers, O., 1937 captain, and the only graduating letterman, received his third award. Other second year awards went to Frank Brezbolle, Carnegie, and Earl Wright, Bellevue, junior squadmen. Henry Throop, Bessemer junior, received an award for his first year on the squad.

Sophomore letters went to varsity gridders Mel Miller nad Julian Laposki, New Brighton, and Dale Youkows, Butler. Lebanon; Merle Maffee, Tarentum; Perry Black, Brentwood; Michael Barr and Harry DePaulis, Aliquippa.

Medwick Joins Holdout Ranks

(International News Service)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 18—Joe Medwick, outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, who was voted the "most valuable player" award in the National league last year, today was a member of baseball's holdout army, despite a voluntary hike in pay by his club officials.

Medwick, who received his 1938 contract from the Cardinals last Saturday, said he based his claim for more money on his record as the league's champion batter.

Beaver Falls Here Tonight

New Castle Will Try Hard For Fourth W. P. I. A. L. Victory

FIRST GAME WILL START AT 7 O'CLOCK

New Castle High School basketball team will go after its fourth Section Three league victory tonight at the Washington High gym floor, when they square off with the Beaver Falls High team. The reserve teams of the two schools will play the preliminary at 7 o'clock.

The locals are tied for the lead at the present time with the Ambridge High team and can take the lead permanently tonight with a victory as the Ambridge team will be idle. Beaver Falls has yet to win a conference game and will try hard to end their slump here tonight. But a queer quirk of fate the Beaver Falls team has been defeated by the same three teams that New Castle has defeated, Ellwood City, Aliquippa and Ambridge. New Castle's only loss was to the fast New Brighton High team.

Set On Lineup

Head Coach Brickenbaugh will start his usual lineup tonight, with Marvin and Rychlicki relegated to the bench but both may see action the same at any time.

New Castle looks better every game, and it now appears that the Red Devils will have to be reckoned with when the final tabulations are made next month.

Following are the probable lineups for tonight:

New Castle		Beaver Falls
Nocera	F	Capozza
Kennedy	F	Marcinzka
Strausbaugh	C	Weaver
Smegek	G	Lamont
Carey	G	Kendrick

Two Games At Falcon Court

Two games will be played tonight at the popular Falcon basketball court. In the first game the Keystones will meet the Aliquippa Polcnics at 7:30 o'clock. This is a Beaver Valley league game.

The Polish Falcons will meet the strong East K. Mavericks in the main game at 8:30 o'clock. The Mavericks are made up of former high stars. Wednesday the Falcs will meet the fast St. Adelberts of Farrell. This game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Thursday the Falcons square off with the fast Sharon Merchants at the Falcon hall. The preliminary game will have the popular Slovak Sokol's meeting the Lorain, Ohio, Sokols.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Just think folks it's the 18th of January already (pardon please, Mrs. Frank Schiek, Mrs. Schiek thinks "Already" should be spelled with a double "ll") how time does fly . . . it won't be very long 'till spring will just be around the corner . . . flowers will be in bloom and fresh vegetables will be on the market, fresh from our own gardens here in New Castle . . . but have you heard of the frozen fruit and vegetable idea . . . it's all the thing right now and will be for years to come . . . the idea was thought up some 12 years ago but never put on the market until the depression came along . . . since that time every year has seen at least a fifty per cent increase over the previous year . . . when a business does that during a tuff period you might imagine what it will do during a boom period . . . the business of freezing fruits and vegetables is very interesting . . . it is now possible to purchase 50 varieties of frozen foods and many of them have a higher food value after being frozen than before . . . have you ever tried frozen Beef Steak . . . it is wonderful . . . among the many popular foods you will find Asparagus, Corn on the Cob, Peas and Strawberries, very fine and they can be bought right here in New Castle . . . you might say that the frozen food industry is a business on wheels . . . a train of flat cars carrying the freezing machines starts in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas in January with the crops of broccoli, spinach and peas . . . then moves to New Orleans in March to pack shrimps and strawberries . . . Norfolk, Virginia in April and May for more blood red strawberries and so on up through the States until it reaches the New England States where it packs more fish and vegetables . . . then back down to the South around the first of the year to start all over again . . . train loads are parked every year and the supply can't begin to keep up with the demand . . . it has been found that the foods can be kept indefinitely . . . so folks you can have delicious fresh vegetables all the year 'round . . . ask your grocer.

* * *

In just about one week . . . a little over . . . the Senior class of the local high school will say good-bye to their Alma Mater . . . they will then sail their own ships and we hope each one reaches his port in safety.

Scout Anniversary To Be Observed Soon

H. M. Bradley, Ellwood City District Boy Scout Secretary, Relates Incident

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 18.—Scout anniversary week will be observed in February, and to make the citizens more scout conscious and show what scouting is doing for the youth of this community, the following is printed in The New Castle News:

"Have you a boy in your home? If he is 12 years of age, you should encourage him to become a Boy Scout. You will no doubt say to yourself "just why should I encourage my boy or my neighbor's boy to become a scout?" Listen to a grateful father and husband and read why he is glad that his boy is a scout.

"This is my story of a home accident which could have proved fatal had not prompt steps been taken to prevent such a result.

"Just a few swaths with the electric sweeper and Saturday's cleaning is over for another week, but those swaths were never to be executed.

"An ancient electric cord on the sweeper and a gas pipe were the factors which put an end to the cleaning for that day and almost ended the life of my wife and the mother of a Boy Scout.

"My wife was just beginning her sweeping and unthinkingly she started to lift the gas pipe from near the floor to sweep under it, when the electric circuit was completed She was knocked to the floor, partially stunned by the fall. She was unable to loose her hold on either the pipe or the sweeper and while struggling to free herself the lead pipe connection was broken.

"Gas came hissing into the room and the electric shock still held her in its rolls. Screams brought her 15-year-old son on the run. He shut of the sweeper and got his mother into a safe place and then ran to the cellar to shut off the gas at the meter. He threw the windows open to dispell the gas and made his mother as comfortable as possible till the doctor arrived.

"How would any body know what to do and do it promptly and efficiently at the age of 15? The answer is found in his scout training. Recently, this scout who is working for his life rating in scouting, learned where and how to shut off gas in the home. Why? He knows, only because he was taught while working on the various tests for the merit badge in handicraft. In passing the safety merit badge he learned to ventilate for gas.

"And what is best to my mind, he stayed by the patient and forgot a well-earned skating trip on new skates which he had received for his fifteenth birthday and did not complain.

"If such a catastophe came into your home, could your boy carry-on as successfully as this scout did? I hope so. But—if you will make a scout of him—encourage him and instruct him as he grows in scouting, then I am sure he will come through with flying colors in any emergency which he may experience."

Be a scout!
Be prepared!
A scout; father of a scout.

Note: This is an actual happening which occurred Saturday, January 15, 1938. If verification is desired, interested parties may contact the secretary of the Ellwood City District Boy Scout Committee. The names have been withheld as publicity is not sought by those concerned.

No Strike Of Capital-Lamont

No Reason For Belief That Big Capital Has Gone Out On Strike

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18.—Although the money markets are practically shut down, it does not mean there is a "strike of capital", Thomas W. Lamont, internationally known member of the financial house of J. P. Morgan and company, declared here Monday.

"There is just as little reason in such a phrase today as there would be to say that 30,000 employes who had lost their jobs because of slack orders had gone on 'strike,'" Lamont said.

In an address before members of the bicentennial committee of the University of Pennsylvania at a luncheon commemorating the 232nd anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, he then asked:

"Would it not be nearer the mark to say not that capital was on a strike, but that it had been 'locked out' by such things as the surplus profits tax which has given warning to investors that no longer are businesses to be permitted to conserve a fair measure of their earnings for bad times; 'locked out' by the continued unsettlement of the problems of the public utilities, the needs of which, for new capital to be expended in material and labor for improvements, are carrying aloud and cannot be answered?"

Lost Confidence.

Declaring that businessmen made a "strenuous and determined effort to maintian the improvement that marked 1936 and 1937," Lamont said he believes that a "good part of the current business recession arises from the bewilderment and loss of confidence among our citizens, owing to the general attitude of distrust towards business which in the last five years has been cultivated in this country.

"For a century and a half American agriculture, industry and commerce have been built upon a basis of mutual trust. Credit—one man trust another—has been our life blood," the financier said.

Louisiana To Erect Statue Perpetuating Memory Of Late Senator Huey P. Long

(International News Service)

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 18.—A statue honoring the late Senator Huey P. Long will be erected on the site of his grave in front of Louisiana's capitol, according to announcements.

The statue is to be designed by the world-famous American sculptor, Charles Keck.

The plans call for a statue of the fiery Louisiana Kingfish to stand atop a monument 30 feet tall. The statue, to be done in bronze, will be 12 feet in height. The monument will be erected a few feet away from the grave of the Senator.

The memorial will depict Huey Long handing school books to small children, emblematic of his sponsorship of free textbooks. Nearby will be shown standing figures of the poor, receiving aid from the hand of the Senator. In the center will be a student dressed in cap and gown, emblematic of the development of Louisiana State University during Huey Long's regime.

To Perpetuate Slogan

In the back of the edifice, facing the capitol, will be reliefs of good roads and free bridges. Surmounting the monument will be a figure of the winged horse, Pegasus, symbolizing the unfilled dreams of the late Kingfish. Above these reliefs will be carved the words, "Share the Wealth," one of Senator Long's favorite campaign slogans. Flanking the grave a short distance away will be two large tigers, standing as sentinels over the grave.

Keck is noted for his statuary the world over. Work done by him includes the statue of George Washington in Palermo Park, Buenos Aires, the equestrian monument to Stonewall Jackson at Charlottesville and the bust of Patrick Henry in the Hall of Fame, New York.

With the last day for dog owners to get their tags inside the date requirements passed, a lot of dog license tags are moving out of the county treasurer's office. On Saturday last, over 800 tags were sold by County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland and his office force. Monday the rush continued and thus far there have been over 3000 tags sold. There are still over 5000 unlicensed dogs in the county.

William Goehring, dog law enforcement officer, was in the city on Monday preparing to crack down on owners who have refused to get licenses. Mr. Goehring is also considering the advisability of putting the county under quarantine due to the several cases of rabies said to have been found among dogs of the county.

It does seem that a dog owner who has any thought at all for his pet should go to the trouble of purchasing a license for it.

County assessors of the first, second, third and fourth wards were in the county commissioners' office on Monday prepared to hear complaints upon their tax assessments. Not a citizen appeared to make a complaint.

Judge Thomas W. Dickey held a short session of motion and petition court Monday morning. Only one case was before him that of a partial report of an auditor in an estate.

One of the prisoners in the county jail, Francis Hiler, was out of jail for a time Sunday but it was an errand of mercy. A relative in the New Castle hospital needed a blood transfusion and Hiler volunteered to give his blood. He was taken to the hopital and the transfusion made.

The organization of the new county school directors' council will mean more work in the office of the county superintendent of schools. The detail of the council will be cleared through the county superintendent's office.

Ministers Vote To Co-operate In Cathedral Service Next Sunday Night

A motion requesting the governing bodies of the various churches to co-operate in the baccalaureate service at the Cathedral next Sunday evening was passed by the New Castle Ministerial Association at the regular meeting Monday in the First Presbyterian church. It is likely that most of the evening services next Sunday will be abandoned in order that the church people may attend the Cathedral service.

Rev. John J. McIlvaine, D. D., president, was in charge of yesterday's session. The meeting was opened with the Doxology led by Rev. Thomas B. Shearer. Devotions were conducted by Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates.

Resolutions were passed, in which the ministers expressed their appreciation to the Masonic bodies for arranging their observance of Maundy Thursday for the Thursday preceding Holy Week. A vote of co-operation was given the Townsmen Club, which is sponsoring a community fathers and sons banquet, and Dr. G. S. Bennett was appointed to represent the association.

Rev. Harold A. McCurdy introduced Fred Wolford, prominent funeral director of this city, and Dr. C. B. Wingerd, of the Ministerial Association, as the speakers of the morning. Mr. Wolford spoke first and discussed many of the points of technique in the funeral service. Dr. Wingerd spoke of the minister and the funeral service.

After a unanimous vote of thanks to Mr. Wolford the meeting was closed with benediction by Rev. John Ruggiero.

There were approximately 29,000,000 passenger automobiles in the United States on June 1, 1937.

Important Ruling Is Handed Down

Make Ruling In Supreme Court In Regard To Claim Bill In 1936

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—The supreme court on Monday ruled that a bill does not become law where, on the tenth day after the president receives it, he returns it without his signature to the house of congress originating it during a recess.

The ruling on the unusual situation was handed down on the appeal of David A. Wright of Winona Mo., whose claim bill was returned to the senate unsigned by president Roosevelt in 1936.

The president returned the bill with a veto to the senate, where the bill originated, but the senate was in recess. The house was in session.

The president's action, Wright claimed, was not a constitutional veto and the bill became law.

Chief Justice Hughes read the court's opinion.

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Remedy. It's Better

Double-quick Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

No matter what you might spend for medicine, you couldn't get quicker, better relief from coughs that start from colds than this simple home mixture gives. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, you'll say it beats anything you ever tried. It has a remarkable three-fold action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.
